MEXICANS ROUTED BY U. S. TROOPS

YOUNGEST COUNTY SOLDIER IS HOME

Claude F. Mitchell, West Laurel Street, Enlisted in March, 1916, at the Age of Fifteen Years.

15 MONTHS IN OVERSEAS DUTY

Participated in Hard Struggles at Verdun, Albert, St. Mihiel and at Other Points.

Claude F. Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, 22 West Laurel street, who was probably the youngest Jackson county soldier in the service during the World War, has arrived home after months of trying experiences overseas. Young Mitchell enlisted March 17, 1916, in the regular army at the age of fifteen years and seven months. He is a large, robust youth and easily passed for nineteen years, the age which is shown on his enlistment papers. Few men of this age engaged in the World War.

Young Mitchell was assigned to the Thirty-third division which was the old one-hundred and thirty-first Illinois infantry. He was among the first Americans to be sent overseas and after a short but intensive training in modern warfare was sent to the front. For a time he was on the northern sectors and participated in the engagements at Albert. Later he saw service at Verdun, St. Mihiel, Argonne, Dead Man's Hill and at other points. The battle at Dead Man's Hill was the bloodiest in which he participated, he said. Mitchell had several close calls from death. "You see they didn't get me because they didn't have any

BABY SWALLOWS IODINE.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Claycamp Finds Bottle on Shelf.

Willard, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Claycamp, Brown and Lynn streets, was critically ill Sunday morning as the result of swallowing a quantity of iodine. The baby reached up to the shelf where the bottle was kept and drank part of the contents before his mother could reach him. Dr. D. L. Perrin was called and worked with the child some time before he was pronounced out of danger. The babe has apparently entirely recovered.

INFANT NILES DEAD.

Little Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Niles Dies Suddenly.

A six-months-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Niles died very suddenly Saturday night at Wirt, Ind., where Mrs. Niles has been visiting with her parents and other relatives for several days past. The father was notified of the child's illness late Saturday afternoon and accompanied by Dr. A. G. Osterman, left for that place but the baby had passed away before they arrived. The remains were brought to this city today for burial in Riverview cemetery.

George Prewitt Home.

George Prewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Prewitt, has received his discharge from military service and has returned here. He was in France about one year and was in the service a year before sailing overseas.

Many people enjoyed the band concert by the Seymour band at Shields park Sunday afternoon. Reginald Brinklow, formerly leader of the 150th Rainbow band, directed the musicians and they were compelled to enchain several numbers by the heavy applause from the large audience. Many out-of-town people were present for the concert, having driven here in automobiles.

Alvin York, known as the "greatest hero of the war."

SHEA TELLS OF CHILIAN COUNTRY

Ambassador Who is in United States on Vacation Declares That Chili Likes America

AMERICAN GOODS SOLD THERE

America Has Opportunity to Capture Larger Share of Business Than Ever Before.

The following article concerning Ambassador Joseph H. Shea who was the guest of friends here Thursday and left for Washington, D. C., via Indianapolis, appeared in this morning's Indianapolis Star:

American-made goods captured more than one-half of the trade in Chili during the world war, and this supremacy may be retained if the manufacturers and jobbers continue to boost their wares, declared Joseph H. Shea, United States ambassador to Chili, who is at his home, 856 West drive, Woodruff Place, for a brief visit. Mr. Shea reached New York a few days ago and came directly to Indianapolis.

"Before the war Germany held the bulk of the Chilean trade, with England second, France third and the United States fourth, but now the United States leads and England and France, Japan and Italy are the other contenders for that trade," Mr.

HARVEST STARTED.

Harrison County Farmers Working in Wheat.

By United Press
Corydon, Ind., June 16.—The hum of the reaper today heralded the approach of harvest time in Indiana. Several farmers in Harrison county already have started their harvest of wheat. Threshing is expected to be started within two or three weeks, and millers hope to be grinding the southern Indiana crop soon. Reports from surrounding territory indicate at least an average yield.

Columbus merchants have entered an agreement to close their stores each Thursday afternoon during the warm weather in order to give their clerks a half holiday. The holiday will be observed for the first time Thursday.

GERMAN COUNTER PROPOSALS

Enemy Delegates Accept Wilson's Fourteen Points as Basis of Peace.

By United Press
Paris, June 16.—A controversy in the session of the big five over civilian control of the occupied districts of the Rhine this afternoon delayed delivery of the allies' reply to the German counter proposals, originally set for 4 p. m. and was changed to 6 p. m.

The big five finally eliminated the provisions for civilian control which had constituted one of the biggest concessions to the Germans. The session was said to have developed some heated discussions. Premier Clemenceau led the fight for revocation or alteration and was supported by the contentions of Marshal Foch. It is understood, however, that some representations will be made to the Germans indicating the allies' intention of establishing civilian control later.

The German counter proposals contain the following assertions: Germany accepted Wilson's fourteen principles and nothing else as the basis of peace.

The original treaty contains a number of contradictions of principles, particularly in regard to disposition of German territories, economic conditions, and Germany's admission to the league of nations.

Germany agrees to the basic idea of military naval and aerial regulations, especially to abolition of compulsory service, but contends she must retain sufficient forces during the

ATLANTIC FLIERS HAILED AT HEROES

Capt. Alcock and Lieut. Brown Go to London After Successful Non-Stop Flight.

WRECKED BIPLANE IN BOG

Aviators Thought They Were Landing in Meadow—Trip Took 16 Hours and 12 Minutes.

By United Press
Galway, Ireland, June 16.—The men who, battling fog and sleet, made the first direct flight across the Atlantic ocean from New Foundland to Ireland, start for London today where they will be received as heroes.

Captain John Alcock and Lieut. A. W. Brown, declared they felt much refreshed after a night's rest here, and that they were steeling themselves for the ordeal of facing cheering thousands upon their arrival in England.

The Vickers biplane, in which they flew the 1,930 miles over a stormy sea in 16 hours, 12 minutes, lay in a bog near here, where Alcock came down under the impression that he was landing in a beautiful meadow.

The machine was so badly damaged in the landing that all thought of Alcock flying in it to London was given up today, it was stated. The plane will be taken apart and shipped to the Vickers plant while Alcock and Brown continue their journey by train and boat, leaving at 3 p. m. today and arriving in London early tomorrow morning.

After the landing, hundreds of people from Clifden flocked to the scene, eager to obtain souvenirs. Sentries barred the way, but scores managed to run the blockade and wading through ankle deep mud, thronged around the machine, tearing bits of fabric from the wings.

The K. of P. lodge at Reddington decorated the graves of their deceased members with proper ceremonies at the cemetery there Sunday. The Reddington band furnished music for the occasion.

Miss Carmina Colabuono underwent an operation at the Schneek Memorial hospital this afternoon and is reported to be improving as well as could be expected.

AMERICANS EXPECTED TO RETURN HOME TODAY

JUAREZ IS HELD BY U.S. TROOPS

American Cavalry Scours Territory in Search of Villista Soldiers.

PROTECTION OF EL PASO, TEX.

Armored Cars, Machine Gun Crews and Infantry Take Possession of Mexican District.

By United Press

El Paso, Tex., June 16.—United States troops were in full possession of Juarez today and American cavalry scoured the Mexican territory south and east of Juarez capturing or killing every Villista soldier they found. The American advance into Juarez was undertaken at 11 a. m. Sunday at orders of General Irwin, commander in the El Paso district to prevent further firing into this city as a result of fighting in Juarez which was under heavy assault from a large villista force.

Piloted by three armored cars, a number of American machine crews and one-pounders led the advance. They were followed by negro troops of the Twenty-fourth infantry, wearing trench helmets and campaign hats. Two companies of the 19th Infantry following across the bridge into Juarez. The American troops encountered little resistance at first, but fighting against the Americans was later reported. After an American soldier was reported killed, orders were given to hunt down snipers and kill them on sight.

In the meantime, the guns of the Eighty-second field artillery opened a bombardment from the El Paso side against the race track east of Juarez where Villistas were entrenched.

The Fifth and Seventh regiments of cavalry drove their mounts through the shallow waters of the Rio Grande. Col. Tompkins of the Seventh, commanded the cavalry brigade. He directed an enveloping movement against the race track, following up the box barrage of the American artillery which was intended to cut off the Villistas there from escape.

At last reports the American advance was going well.

The attack on Juarez was the first move in the announced plan of Francisco Villa and Felipe Angeles, his "minister of war," to overthrow the Carranza regime. The fighting could be seen from the roofs of buildings in El Paso. Rifleman banged away at each other from windows and fought in little groups in the streets. In the open near the race track Carranza's cavalry made several sorties. The federals had cannon in Fort Hidalgo and occasionally tossed a few shells toward the Villistas.

An American soldier watching from an El Paso building said he saw the federals shoot twelve prisoners against the wall of Fort Hidalgo.

The federals established a hospital in a Juarez pool hall.

During the fighting, El Paso was brilliantly lighted, and the streets crowded with people eager for news of the "battle."

General Erwin officially announced that no intervention or invasion of Mexican soil in any punitive expedition such as followed the Villistas' raid on Columbus, N. M., several years ago, is intended in the present expedition.

As soon as the safety of El Paso and its citizens is assured, Erwin stated, the American troops will be withdrawn to this side again. The

FIGHTING OCCURS IN THE MOON LIGHT

Total American Casualties Reported as Two Slightly Wounded—36 Villistas Dead.

CARRANZISTAS CO-OPERATE

Colored Troops Dash at Enemy and Mexicans Stand Ground for Only Short Time.

By United Press

El Paso, June 16.—"Our work is finished. I will order our troops back from Juarez probably by this noon, certainly today," said General Erwin, commanding this border district.

American troops completely routed the Villistas in and around Juarez, driving them in "every direction," Erwin said.

The total American casualties so far reported were two slightly wounded.

General Erwin said the Americans counted thirty-six dead Villistas in and around Juarez. The total Villista casualties probably were much larger.

Within thirty minutes after advancing upon the Villistas entrenched in the Juarez race track, negro troops of the 24th infantry had scattered the Mexicans.

The fighting occurred by moon light shortly after 2 a. m. and this partly accounts for the small casualties.

The Villistas stood their ground for only a few minutes, the superior American infantry equipment in rifles and machine guns completing the work where the infantry from the American side left off.

Rocket flares were used to signal the end of the barrage and the opening of the infantry advance. The Mexicans were threatened from behind by a force of United States cavalry and had to scatter to avoid surrender or capture.

Satisfactory co-operation from the Carranzista garrison at Juarez marked the American entry into Mexico, the largest expedition to cross the border since the expedition of 1916.

BRINGS SUIT TO GET POSSESSION OF PROPERTY

Case of Ben Goodpasture vs. Fred Malone Being Tried Before Jury This Afternoon.

A case in which Ben Goodpasture is suing Fred Malone to get possession of property which is occupied by the defendant on West Laurel street, was tried before a jury in Squire C. L. D. Wilson's court this afternoon. The plaintiff alleges that he served notice on Malone, who has been living in his house, to move several days ago and so far he has failed to do so. The defendant has refused to vacate on account of a disagreement with Goodpasture concerning the garden which he owns. The case will be completed late this afternoon.

A baseball game was staged at Brownstown Sunday afternoon between a team composed of local players and the Brownstown second team which resulted in a victory for the Seymour boys by a score of 16 to 11.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS PLAN 1920 CAMPAIGN

Details of Organization, Including Collection of Funds, To Be Considered.

By United Press
Indianapolis, June 16.—In a two-day session to be held some time during the present week, organization of the state for the 1920 campaign will be attempted by the democratic state committee, according to plans announced by that body.

Details of organization, including collection of campaign funds will be worked out at this session.

No definite plans have been announced for formation of the woman's organization but Chairman Fred

Van Nuys said he believed the organization adopted by the men voters will be followed by the women.

Van Nuys will launch a movement to bring the 1920 democratic convention to Indianapolis. The successful handling of the Shriners' convention here last week, he said, is proof of the city's ability to accommodate the big political gathering.

State chairmen of Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky and Ohio will meet with the Hoosier committee here some time soon for the purpose of planning co-operation in the national campaign, it was stated.

MRS. MARGARET SIERP
SUCCUMBS TO CANCER

Well Known Woman Expires Sunday Night at 8 O'clock—Funeral Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret A. Sierp, a well known woman died at her home Sunday night at 8 o'clock following an illness of four months. Age sixty-four years. The deceased was the widow of Henry Sierp who preceded her to the grave about two years ago. Mrs. Sierp's death was due to a cancer.

The deceased was born July 26, 1854, at Cincinnati, O. She was married two times, her first marriage being to Herman Bruning who preceded her to the grave several years ago. She was united in marriage in April, 1903, to Henry Sierp. The deceased is survived by several relatives and many friends.

The funeral will be held from the home on West Brown street Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. O. G. Misamore, pastor of St. Paul's church, conducting the service. Interment will be in Riverview cemetery.

shells with my number on them," he said. He said that on one raid in which forty-eight men took part the soldier who was walking beside him was hit by a piece of flying shrapnel and was seriously wounded. Because of the importance of the raid and the small number of American soldiers engaged the wounded man could not be given immediate attention and had to wait until the ambulance corps came for him.

On another occasion, Mitchell said, he and a soldier were driving from the front to the rear after machine gun ammunition. A piece of flying shrapnel hit his companion and killed him instantly. Mitchell said he saw his companion fall and he threw himself forward, but lost his balance and fell behind the heels of the span of mules. One mule objected to him staying there and kicked him in the face.

Mitchell's nose was broken, several teeth were knocked out, and his lips were cut, requiring several stitches to close up the gashes. He did not go to the hospital, and was off duty only a short time.

Mitchell is glad to get back home again and says he is better satisfied with the United States than ever before.

For Skin Tortures

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable. The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

WHEAT RIPENING RAPIDLY
UNDER HOT SUMMER SUN

Farmers Predict that Grain Will be Ready to Harvest Before the Close of This Week.

The wheat fields in Jackson county are rapidly acquiring the rich yellow color of maturity and the farmers are arranging to begin the harvest before the end of this week. In some sections the grain is ripening so rapidly that it will be harvested by the middle of the week, farmers declare. A number of fields have been damaged to some extent by the rust, but the yield throughout the county is expected to be above the average.

Rye fields are also ripening rapidly and most of them will be ready to harvest early this week. The hot sun, the farmers declare, has hastened the grain to maturity.

Although rain has fallen in the eastern and southern sections of the county during the last week, the western portion has had very little rain and the ground in some places is crusty under the burning sun. The hot weather, however, has been favorable to the young corn, especially that which was planted late.

G. H. Anderson's Bulletin.

We have just received a large supply of the famous Aviston's Special Patent Flour for wholesale and retail trade. This flour is manufactured out of hard winter wheat and every sack is guaranteed as to quality.

We carry a big stock of bran, middlings and shorts for sale.

Schumacher's hog feed is always carried in stock. All of this feed is on the basis of about $10 a ton less than hominy meal but for feeders who prefer hominy meal we will have a full car load coming in.

We have on hands a full stock of Whip-o-will cow peas and also soy beans to be sold at a low price. Farmers can depend on getting a stock of feed here on any day that their wagons come in, and everyone that comes in once and gets our prices will come again.

We have a large stock of scratch feed for chickens and feed for little chicks at a very low price.

A good stock of Pocahontas coal on hands which will last but a few days as we will not handle any more Pocahontas coal this year. Anyone wanting anthracite coal can place orders as we will have an adequate stock. We advise that coal be bought now as the price will surely be higher. G. H. THE LORELEI AND THE YANKEE

She sat on a crag in the gloaming,
And sang to the soldier below,
The birds to the forest were homing,
And the clouds held a warm afterglow.
The Rhine flowed majestic, eternal,
To the arms of the sea in its flight,
And vine clad the hills in their vernal
Green dress were all hushed for the night.

"O linger, and leave not forever,
Fair youth, with the clear, steady eyes!
So long have I sat by the river
And waited thy coming with sighs
Come, rest in my arms and remember
Naught, naught but our moments of bliss!"
And the snows and ice of December
Will dissolve in the fire of our kiss."

He harked to the Lorelei's wooing,
But smiled, quite unmoved by her plea—
"Say, what do you think you are doing,"
He said, "spouting German to me?
I don't like your looks or your manner,
While as for the Rhine, it lacks style,
And the girls of the Star Spangled Banner
Have your kind skinned by a mile."
—New York Sun.

Bagpipe Music at Wedding.

There was bagpipe playing at the wedding of Roswell Miller and Miss Margaret Carnegie in New York the other day. The Highland airs might have seemed out of place at the marriage of most American girls, but in the Carnegie home nothing could have been more appropriate.

The bride's father is a true son of the Highlands, his birthplace and home of his childhood. After having made his fortune in the American steel industry he returned to Scotland and bought the beautiful estate of Skibo castle. There the Carnegie family spent their summers from the earliest recollection of Andrew Carnegie's only child, the bride of a few days ago. Guests at the wedding were impressed by the wedding march played on the great organ in the Carnegie mansion of Fifth avenue, and there was a fine orchestra which also played, but to the old Scotsman and perhaps to the bride, neither approached the music of the pipers from Skibo castle, an exchange remarks.

Lord Ribblesdale, the most picturesque peer in England, who, according to an advertisement appearing under "Marriages" in a London newspaper, has married Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, mother of Vincent Astor and divorced wife of Col. John Jacob Astor, who was lost in the Titanic disaster.

Real Tough.

An officer just returned from France is telling this story:
"Where," he asked of a negro soldier of one of the New York draft regiments, "did you come from?"
"From N'Yawk, sur, from de San Juan Hill district."
"San Juan hill, eh! That's rather a tough section of the city, isn't it?"
"Tough! Man, dat district's so tough, dat de canary birds sing bass."—New York Evening Post.

"Maw?"
"Well, Junior—"
"Paw don't know much about music, does he?"
"Not very much, but why do you ask?"
"At the show this afternoon a man told paw the lady on the stage was singing high G, and paw said it sounded like H."—Youngstown Telegram.

Why Organize Health Clubs.

The fact that 33 per cent of candidates were rejected by army physical examinations because of underweight is being used by promoters of the national health campaign, which is being boosted in Iowa. Home demonstration agents are co-operating with teachers, food clubs, and parent-teacher associations. It is planned to organize health clubs, to prepare menus, and send out literature relating to such subjects as food, exercise and health.

Unnecessary.

"Oh, my!" yawned the wife as hubby pleaded with her to arise and prepare his breakfast. You never let me have my beauty sleep."
"But you don't need a beauty sleep, dear," answered hubby.
And it came to pass that wife quickly arose and there have been no more late breakfasts in that household, even unto this day.—Judge.

Believed in Following Orders.

He was a new but conscientious soldier on duty as sentry one evening at one of the national camps. As an officer appeared the "rookie" called "Halt!"
The officer obeyed and the sentry called again, "Halt!"
"See here," said the officer, "I halted the first time!"
"Yes; but the sergeant told us to say 'Halt' three times and then fire."
Needless to say the officer did not linger.

Cultured Community.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford One Ton Truck may well be classed as an agricultural necessity, it fits into and fills so many wants on the farm. It is a reliable bearer of farm burdens, not only doing the work of several horses quicker and better than the horse, and does not "eat its head off" when not working. The aggressive farmer has only to consider the possibilities of the Ford truck and he is ready to buy one. We judge this to be so from the way farmers are buying them. Truck Chassis $550 f. o. b. ## FLEXIBLE AIR CAMELS FOR MARINE SALVAGE

Lieut. Russell Gordon has just invented what is known as a flexible air camel for marine salvage. The camel is just an air vessel which is packed up in a small space, and numbers of them are inserted in the hold of a submerged ship. Air is then pumped into them from above and, as water displacement takes place, gradually raises the vessel to the surface.

Kill 254 Rats in One Day.

It is believed the rat-killing record is held by A. J. Walker and his two boys, who killed 254 rats in one day while moving hay in the Walker barn near Valdosta, Ga. A well-beaten rat path ran from the hay to the near-by corn crib. One of the party shook the hay while the other two slaughtered rats as they made for their eating quarters.

The Spicy Title.

"I see the movie people claim there's big money in the word 'sin' if used in a harmless manner. In other words, it's great for a title."
"In that case I ought to be able to sell my film drama, 'Sin Fong.' It's a story of Chinese life."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ILLICIT RUM MAKING PORTO RICO INDUSTRY

Moonshiners Multiply So Fast Authorities Cannot Keep Lists Up to Date.

Moonshiners multiply daily in Porto Rico. Nearly 100 stills have been raided by the police.

Making contraband rum is easy and cheap, and the profit is great. All that's needed is a rude still and a supply of molasses, always plentiful. The rum hounds will pay from $2 to $3 for a small bottle of the stuff.

The risk of a fine of from $25 to $100 is no barrier to the native who would gather quick and easy money.

While the San Juan police chief was preparing a list of 35 stills that had been seized since the first of the year, reports came in of the seizure of as many more. From the arrests made in the 35 seizures there have been nine convictions and a total of $675 in fines assessed. But two jail sentences have been passed, one 30 days and one three months. There have been two acquittals and the remainder of the cases have not yet been heard.

Rum seizures recorded by the police are 273 pints, 2,100 half pints, one demijohn, 64 liters and 19 gallons. Then there are 61 half pints of wine, 22 bottles of anise, 50 gallons of alcohol and 54 bottles of beer. Altogether the police have quite a little of liquor, but there isn't any use for it.

Capt. W. J. Kennerly may collect $250,000 from the wreck of the schooner Madeline Shirley Lord. The crew abandoned the schooner off Ponce with a cargo of a half million dollars' worth of Martinique rum bound for France. Kennerly smelled it out and put his crew aboard. He saved the rum from the fishes and is entitled to half the salvage. It's under the lock and key of the collector of customs at Ponce and can't be sold here, but is likely to be trans-shipped to some port where Kennerly can collect.

SPURNS A REWARD

Man Accepts $20 for $175 Find Under a Protest.

Mrs. John Springer, who lives three miles south of Noblesville, Ind., had abandoned hope of finding a purse containing almost $175, which she lost somewhere between Cincinnati and her home, when a neighbor came to her with a copy of The Indianapolis News, in which there appeared a story to the effect that J. A. Davidson, living west of Connersville, had found a purse with about that sum in it, and was eagerly seeking the owner. Mrs. Davidson hired an automobile and drove to this city.

Davidson, a huckster and a poor man, immediately surrendered the purse when told the denomination of the bills. He accepted, reluctantly, a reward of $20, insisting that he had his reward in placing the purse in the hands of its owner. Davidson lost two pounds of coffee on the sidewalk in Connersville when he went to advertise his find, and although he immediately retraced his steps, the package was gone. He still is annoyed at the recollection of this incident.

Risks Life for $25.

Harvey Ershig, about seventeen years old, a wagon driver at Evansville, Ind., permitted a holdup man to shoot him late one night rather than deliver $25 belonging to his employer. While he was making his last trip he met the would-be robber in a dark yard, but disregarded a command to throw up his hands. A bullet passed through the boy's left arm and entering the side is believed to have lodged in his stomach. Ershig was removed to a hospital, where it is said his condition is serious. A man who witnessed the holdup chased the robber for some distance, but was unable to overtake him.

Her Dream Saved Bank Roll.

Jacob Kober, saloonkeeper of Oakland, Cal., is thanking his lucky stars that his wife has dreams that mean something and that she is handy with a shotgun. Two masked bandits, armed with pistols, held him up in his saloon shortly after midnight. His wife, sleeping in an apartment above, dreamed that her husband was surrounded by enemies. Half awake, she leaped out of bed, seized a gun and ran down the back stairs and into the bar. She fired once at random and the bandits fled.

Long Fall, Unhurt.

Samuel J. Watkins, forty-four years of age, of Chicago, a steeplejack, while painting a smokestack recently at the municipal light plant at Lawrenceburg, Ind., fell a distance of 50 feet to a cement sidewalk when a rope broke. He was uninjured and saved his bucket of black paint. Watkins re-adjusted the rope and completed the work.

Two Eggs Joined.

Harvey Smith, a chicken fancier, residing at Good Siding, Pa., has placed on exhibition at Waynesboro, Pa., a freak egg—or twin eggs. The eggs are joined one to another with a thin tissue. Both shells of the eggs are soft.

Turned to Jam.

AGED WOMAN DIES SUNDAY MORNING

Mrs. Rebecca A. Lewis Succumbs Following Stroke of Paralysis Suffered Tuesday.

MOTHER OF LOCAL ATTORNEY

Was Probably the Oldest Native Resident of Jackson County—Funeral Tuesday.

Mrs. Rebecca A. Lewis, a pioneer resident of Jackson county, passed away at the home of her step-son, Ralph Lewis, at 709 North Pine street, Sunday morning at 12:45 following a serious illness of five days. The deceased suffered a stroke of paralysis last Tuesday, after which time she remained in an unconscious condition until claimed by death. Mrs. Lewis was the widow of the late John M. Lewis, Sr., and is the mother of Judge John M. Lewis, the local attorney.

The deceased was probably the oldest native of Jackson county, Mrs. Lewis was born near Slate Ford, in Vernon township May 1, 1831, being eighty-eight years, one month and fifteen days old. She was the daughter of James and Lucretia Pierson. During her early life she attended Durham college and was a school teacher for a number of years, having taught in Vernon township.

In 1865 the deceased was united in marriage to Stephen A. Cook, who preceded her to the grave in 1868. To this union one child was born. In April, 1872, the deceased was united in marriage to John M. Lewis, to which union one son, Judge John M. Lewis, was born. Her late husband preceded her to the grave in June, 1915.

The deceased had spent her entire life in Jackson county and had lived the greater part of it in Vernon township. She enjoyed excellent health until a few years ago at which time she began failing. However, she was able to be up and about until stricken with paralysis last Tuesday.

For the past few years the deceased had been making her home with her step-son, Ralph Lewis, on North Pine street. Besides the son, the deceased is survived by four step-children, Oscar Lewis, George Lewis, Ralph Lewis, and Mrs. Lou B. Morgan, of Denver, Colo., one brother, Henry Pierson, who resides south of the city, together with several other relatives and many friends.

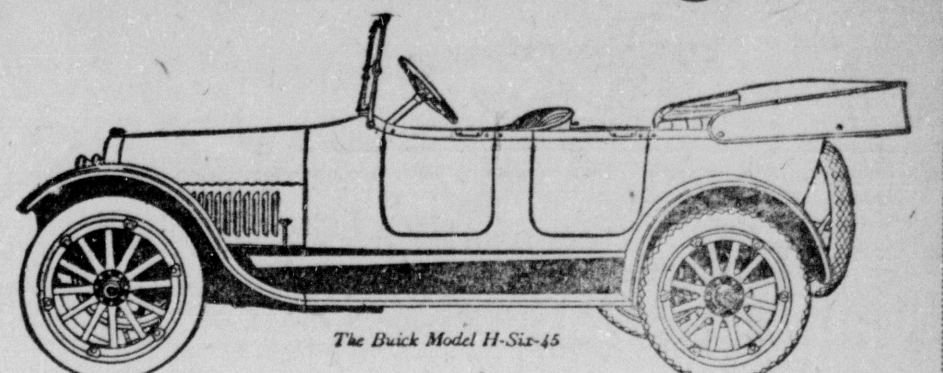

The funeral service will be held Tuesday afternoon. A short service will be held at the Lewis residence on North Pine street, and at the Uniontown church at 3 o'clock. Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct the obsequies. Burial will be in the Uniontown cemetery.

Mrs. Bessie Crist and son, Dallas, of Huntington, Va., and Miss Fern Catt, left this morning for a few days' visit with relatives in Washington.

Miss Virginia Martin returned to her home in Washington this morning after a week end visit with Miss Elizabeth Smith, North Poplar street.

Rev. L. T. Freeland went to Indianapolis this morning on business.

American crossing was made with typical Yankee dash. Within ten minutes after the orders were given, the advance forces were entering Juarez. Preparations were made with the same thoroughness as for a night attack on the western front but on a smaller scale.

The troops found Juarez filled with dead and wounded Mexicans of both factions, while the inhabitants cowered in their abode homes. Fighting had been going on in Juarez intermittently since late Saturday night when the rebel attack opened against the Carranza garrison.

Dead were lying stretched in all attitudes over the curbing. Dogs were prowling among the fallen Mexicans.

The Cruz Blanca or "White Cross" hospital in Juarez was caring for thirty-two wounded rebel and federal soldiers.

Home Demonstration Dept.

Farm women everywhere can obtain first-hand counsel and suggestions as to how to obtain increased comfort and prosperity from the Home Demonstration Agents of the Department of Agriculture, who have entered with a zest into the National Thrift Campaign conducted by the Savings Division, U. S. Treasury Department, and who are including the promotion of thrift in their regular work.

Eighteen hundred of these agents have been carrying the message of the present thrift campaign into farm houses all over the country ever since the inception of the movement at the beginning of 1919. In appreciation of their service Harold Braddock, director of the Savings Division, has written each of them a letter commending their work and offering some new suggestions in accordance with the development of plans at Washington.

Mr. Braddock's letter reads in part:

"Thrift is primarily the people's concern. If thrift is to become a permanent national asset, the people's agencies and organizations must definitely assume their share of responsibility for inculcating thrift by including it in their program of action. Schools, churches, business and labor organizations, fraternal societies and women's organizations, as well as agricultural workers and agencies, are already undertaking this work and are in close co-operation with the Treasury Department."

While the Home Demonstration Agents have made thrift in a general way a part of their work for years, they are now, at the request of the Savings Division, extending their program so as to include systematic saving, safe investment, and the creation of savings facilities in every family.

Plans for the latter, according to Mr. Braddock's letter, embrace the following principles:

1. The habit of saving first some part of income for future needs, and of spending wisely for present needs.
2. A home betterment fund, to secure, for example, running water in the home.
3. A savings plan for every boy and girl.
4. A savings fund in government securities for every family.
5. Keeping of accounts to promote wise spending and to increase savings.
6. Safe investment of savings (Nos. 2, 3, 4) in government securities until money is needed; War Savings Stamps as a desirable investment.

By consulting her Home Demonstration Agent every woman in the rural districts will be enabled to solve her particular problems of how to increase savings, how still further to avoid waste, how to spend her money so that she will get full value for every cent, and how to plant her savings so that they will grow to the best advantage. She will also receive ideas for starting her children on the Thrift road, and accustoming them to the habit of steady saving and safe investment.

As people usually find it much easier and more enjoyable to save when a number of them engage in it together and can exchange ideas as to methods and results, one of the chief tasks of the Home Demonstration Agent will be to stimulate the formation of War Savings Societies. It is planned, in existing organizations, to appoint some member as Government Thrift representative, or a number of them as a Thrift Committee, both to promote intelligent economy and to handle the sale of Thrift and Savings Stamps. If desired, the organization may appoint its own committee. Stamps, of course, can be obtained from any postmaster. The agent will also endeavor to introduce the study of thrift rallies, and will invite stores and creameries, etc., to become selling agencies for War Savings Stamps.

An amount of literature, including "The War Savings Society - The Backbone of the Campaign," "The War Savings Society - How to Organize," "Ten Lessons of Thrift (for study club)," "How Other People Get Ahead (budgets)," "Thrift in the Schools (a course of study)" and "A Speaker's Handbook on Thrift," are available both to the Home Demonstration Agents and the public on application to the Government Savings Director, care of any Federal Reserve Bank. The banks are located at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas, and San Francisco.

Twenty thrift pamphlets have also been prepared for distribution by the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

In expressing his appreciation of the work already accomplished by the Home Demonstration Agents, Mr. Braddock voiced his recognition of their share in introducing the habit of regular saving, wise spending, and safe investing into every American home.

MELON GROWERS TO MEET AT PRINCETON, JUNE 25

Invitations have been issued by County Agent A. E. Murphy to all shippers, association sales managers, and interested growers to attend a general meeting at Princeton, June 25th. This meeting has been called by J. R. Cavanagh, Field Agent in Marketing at Purdue University, in co-operation with the local county agent to discuss the 1919 market outlook, handling and transportation problems.

Bureau of markets representatives, railroad officials, and extension specialists from both Purdue University and the University of Kentucky will be present to discuss the various phases of the 1919 deal as they confront local growers and shippers. The morning meeting, beginning at 10:00 A. M. will take up the 1919 market outlook. This will be of vital interest to all growers and shippers because of the expected competition from other large producing sections. Professor C. N. Elliott, who has been the main factor in the upbuilding of the Kentucky cantaloupe trade will speak on packing and platform inspection.

The afternoon meeting will begin with a discussion of loading and handling in transit problems by G. L. Fisher, of the Bureau of Markets, Washington, D. C. Transportation problems and the railroads will be handled by a round table discussion in charge of Superintendent Glidden of the C. & E. I. Mr. Glidden will be assisted by S. D. McLeish, general agent for the Big Four at Evansville. B. & O. Lines, J. S. McLaughlin, traffic service agent for the Illinois Central, and Ed. Weiland, C. & E. I. general agent for the Princeton-Decker district.

Bureau of Markets Inspections will be explained by R. C. Butler of Chicago. The program will be concluded by a discussion of field and handling diseases of cantaloupes and watermelons by Dr. Gardener, pathologist at Purdue University.

Both the morning and afternoon sessions will take up problems of vital interest to both shippers and growers expecting to handle melons or cantaloupes this coming season, and it is urged that both sessions be attended.

KEEP COWS FROM WEEDS THAT TAINT MILK

Now is the time to be careful that the dairy cow does not eat any of the weeds that will taint her milk, according to the Purdue University Extension Department. Throughout the state, garlic, wild onions and bitter weeds are common which if eaten by the dairy cow will impart an objectionable odor and flavor to the milk and decreases its market value. Severe losses from the value of milk are often suffered as a result of the tainted milk.

This trouble can be prevented by proper management or by keeping the cows off infested fields. Liberal feedings of hay and silage will greatly reduce the desire for large quantities of these weeds and the removal of the cows from the fields a short time before milking will largely prevent the appearance of taints in the product.

GIRL FINDS PROFIT IN PIG CLUB EFFORTS

Mildred Thomas is a member of the 1917 pig club launched by the Peoples State Bank, Sullivan who has made a success. She fattened the pigs from last year's litter, eight in all, and made a neat profit by sending them to market. She had three left of this year's litter and expects to keep the sow and one or two gilts to maintain a small herd as a permanent source of revenue. Mildred has been a state and county pig club member for four years and has both experience and good profit from her work.

Poultry Proved Profitable; Man Makes $1.18 Per Hour

Poultry demonstration and record farms have been established over the state by the Purdue University Extension Department as a means of proving that a profit may be made from the raising of poultry and at the same time help the farmers to realize a gain from the poultry. The farms used in these respects are selected by the county agent.

Perhaps one of the most conclusive demonstrations that poultry yields a profit has come from the farm of E. W. Foster, in Lawrence county eight miles from Bedford. Mr. Foster began keeping records April 1, 1915 and since then the results from his farm have shown conclusively that the keeping of poultry is profitable. He started out with 140 White Leghorn hens which averaged 115 eggs apiece for the first year. His total expense for that year amounted to $148.57, his total income $305.04, leaving him a net profit of $156.47, or an average of $1.12 per hen for the first year. For the next three years, without increasing his flock to any large extent, he realized a profit of $349.20, $475.11 and $595.45, respectively. His records for the past year show that for each hour he spent on his poultry he was repaid $1.18.

Further proof of Mr. Foster's success is contained in the fact that his neighbors are copying his methods and seeking to do as he has done. County Agent James Kline states that poultry is one of the main products of the county.

Walter Johnson's Pigs to Help Pay His Way Through College

Walter Johnson, a 19 year old Curry township lad, is a member of the pig club who has made things count in a dollars and cents way and expects to continue to make his pure-bred Poland Chinas pay and help put him through college which he will enter this fall.

Walter obtained a pig two years ago in the club distribution. Last spring she farrowed 10 pigs and saved all of them. Two of these gilts paid the Peoples State Bank for the original pig, one went to a brother-in-law and the rest were fattened for market, bringing their young owner $250. They weighed 209 pounds at six months. The sow was bred again for a fall litter of pigs, nine being farrowed and saved. These were sold for breeding stock on the market and brought Walter $455. Only recently his sow farrowed ten fine pigs which he values at $25 each now and the sow worth all of them. As a result of his two years of club work, if Walter were to sell out to-day, he would have cleared in the neighborhood of $1200. However, he expects to maintain the herd as a source of revenue all the time he is in college.

Girl Makes More Than $1,000 In Two Years of Pig Club Work

Sylvia Page is one of the successful girls in the Sullivan County Pure-bred Pig Club and because of her work in this and other clubs, three times has won a trip to Purdue University.

In 1917 she obtained from the Peoples State Bank at Sullivan a pure-bred Poland China gilt which farrowed eight pigs last spring. Two of these were given to the bank to pay for the original gilt and the rest were sold for an average of $38, or a total of $228. The second litter of eight came last fall and the third this spring, one pig being lost this time. Sylvia now has porkers at home worth at market price $600 or $700 and at pure bred figures well above $1,000 or perhaps twice their market value. For four years Sylvia has been a member of the State and County pig clubs, hence the success is the more deserved.

FARM POULTRY FLOCK PAYS $3.88 PER HEN

Records show that Mrs. Amos Sanders, of Rochester, received $721.63 for 394 hours devoted to a farm flock of 186 pure bred Rhode Island Reds last year. This is an average of $1.83 per hour or $3.88 per bird. The flock laid 23,950 eggs for the year or an average of 129 eggs per hen, a much higher record than the state average of 85 eggs per hen.

Mrs. Sanders is co-operating with the county agent, and the poultry division of Purdue University in a farm poultry demonstration. The figures given here are the results of her first year's work.

The price received per dozen eggs averaged about 42 cents for the year. A small premium was obtained for some eggs sold for hatching. Mrs. Sanders has built up her flock by careful collection and this with her financial success has attracted many nearby farmers as customers for hatching eggs.

The labor income of $3.88 per hen is the highest yet made by any of the demonstration farms in Indiana. This means that after charging all feed used from the farm, feed purchased, six per cent. interest on investment, ten per cent. depreciation on all equipment, and other miscellaneous expenses, there is a balance of $3.88 left for the time devoted to each hen.

Heavy egg production has been the main reason for this success. This production is not the result of any one "secret," but of the combination of good stock, early hatching, proper feeding, and good housing conditions. Self-feeding devices, dropping boards, and other equipment, contributed a large part toward reducing the time required to look after the flock.

What Mrs. Sanders has done with her farm poultry flock simply illustrates the possibilities which are within the reach of most farms. It is simply a matter of applying good methods in a common sense way.

14,000 BARBERRY PLANTS SPREAD DEADLY WHEAT RUST

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—Fourteen thousand barberry bushes, all infected with spores of black stem rust of wheat, were found by government agents in three northeastern Indiana counties, LaGrange, Noble and Whitley, during the past week. Practically all of the plants had spread the rust to the few fields where wheat was still grown. The barberries were found in woods, swamps, towns, orchards and around fields. A number of farmers in the southern part of LaGrange county quit growing wheat years ago because of the rust, which usually ruined the crop. When they were told what caused the rust in their fields they unhitched their teams from corn planters and other implements and had a barberry pulling "bee." In one community, twelve teams and many more men pulled out all big bushes they could find, and one man was left to look around and finish the job.

Infected plants are being found throughout the state, but property owners are removing them as rapidly as they discover they are harmful to small grain crops.

LITTLE EXTRA HELP NEEDED IN INDIANA DURING HARVEST

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—No extra labor will be required to harvest Indiana farm crops this year, except in the heaviest wheat producing counties, according to W. B. Brumfield, farm help specialist on the Purdue university extension staff. This statement was based on reports from county agricultural agents throughout the state.

Pooling of labor and the placing of returning soldiers on the farms are the principal ways in which the labor problems are being solved in many counties. Farmers everywhere are beginning to realize that by co-operating with each other they can harvest their crops with greater efficiency and without feeling the handicaps of labor shortage.

Letters are being received from demobilization camps over the country giving the names of soldiers who are to be discharged and the nature of farm employment they desire. By co-operating with the farmers and former soldiers the employment bureau is doing much to prevent any possible shortage which may develop this year.

BUMPER GRASSHOPPER CROP PREDICTED; HOW TO STOP 'EM

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—Prospects for a bumper crop of grasshoppers were never better according to entomologists at Purdue University, and already the pests are showing up in Wells, Hancock, Shelby and other counties of the state. Last season they ruined hundreds of fields of clover, alfalfa and of corn by stripping the stalks of everything except the tassels.

They may be controlled by the use of poison bran bait or the big hopper-doers, box like traps which catch them as it is dragged by horses over clover or other hay fields.

The poison bran bait, which is sown broadcast, is made of 25 pounds of bran or sawdust, mixed with one pound of Paris green or 1½ pounds of white arsenic; two quarts of cheap feeding molasses, six cut up lemons or oranges to flavor the bait, and one or two gallons of water. When the hoppers taste this mixture their hopping career is quickly ended. Bait will have to be used where corn prevents the pulling of a hopper dozer.

The hopper-dozer is sixteen feet long, four feet high, and is so made that when it is pulled over the field, the hoppers jump against it and slide into a screen wire covered trap. Plans for the hopper dozer may be obtained from any county agricultural agent in the state. This hopper catcher was used successfully in 1918 at various places in Indiana.

Details of both of these control methods are contained in Circular No. 88 by J. J. Davis, federal entomologist, and published recently by Purdue University.

RAT DRIVE SUCCESSFUL: THOUSANDS MET DEATH

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—"Results of the 'rat day' drive are just beginning to be noticed, judging from reports we are receiving from throughout the state," said W. Q. Fitch, assistant secretary of the Indiana Committee on Food Production and Conservation, who was in charge of the rat drive.

We not only have reports of thousands of rats being killed throughout the state, but druggists say they are continuing to sell large quantities of rat poison and hardware men report an unprecedented sale of metal corn cribs and rat traps."

Seven thousand rodents were on the Putnam County casualty list May 27, County Agent R. S. Fouts reports. Five thousand met their fate in Marion County; 1,500 in Randolph County; 5,000 in Brown County, 2,000 in Vermillion County.

"One farmer told me that he had killed 400 rats on his place during the week starting May 27," wrote George X. Reed, Warrick County agricultural agent.

Advice of this sort from all over Indiana shows that Rat Day resulted in a great deal of good through the killing of the rodents and the saving of vast quantities of food.

"With interest aroused in the fight against rats and mice, a number of counties will continue their fights against these pests which annually cause a loss of $4,000,000 in Indiana alone," said Mr. Fitch.

MUCH RYE IN WHEAT FIELDS WILL COST FARMERS HEAVILY

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—A large number of Indiana farmers will lose considerable of the profit on their wheat this year because of the prevalence of an unusually large amount of rye, according to a statement by W. A. Ostrander, Soils and Crops specialist at Purdue University. Many are seeking to prevent this loss by going through their fields now and cutting out the rye, and a great many more could follow the practice to their advantage, he declared. This should be done, if possible, before the grain ripens to prevent its seeding again.

"Any grain, which when free from dockage, contains more than ten percent of grain of any kind or kinds other than wheat shall not be classified as wheat," reads a section in the Federal Grain grading act, which is to be rigidly enforced hereafter throughout the country.

"This means," said Mr. Ostrander, "that if a man brings in wheat which shows ten percent of rye or any other grain in it after threshing, as much of it will, he will have to let it go at the dealers' price. All the grain will be bought according to grade and it will be necessary for the owner to have less than six percent of rye or other grain in his wheat if he is to get what it is worth."

The standardization of grain will give the grower who produces clean wheat a premium for his product and the man who markets the poorer crops will be forced to take just what such grain is worth.

C. T. Oscar Schacht, a Monroe county farmer, has stopped soil washing on his farm, and clay points that were barren a few years ago are now bearing fine crops of alfalfa. Plenty of lime, phosphorus and inoculated seed did it.

Newsy Notes of the Farm

W. W. Bruther, a Jefferson county farmer, who is keeping a record in co-operation with Purdue University, of his 300 laying hens, had a labor income of $164 in March for them. Their average egg production was 61 per cent. that month or an average of eighteen eggs from each hen during the month.

A committee from the Elkhart County Guernsey Breeders' Association and County Agent G. E. Metzger spent four days in Wisconsin buying pure-bred cattle. Twenty-three head were purchased at a cost of $6,200, an average price of $268.70, an average price of $268.70, an average price of $268.70 to fifteen members of the association.

By getting in touch with the county agents in Tennessee and Alabama, R. A. Chitty, Montgomery county agent, was enabled to get 254 feeder hogs for shipment to Indiana. The county agents in the south had farmers in their sections bring in the feeder porkers they had for sale on the day the Indiana buyers were to be there. This presents some real co-operation.

Fourteen pecks of high grade Early Yellow Dent seed corn have been distributed to the 14 boys in the Elkhart County corn club. The boys have given their notes without interest to the City National Bank of Goshen to pay for the corn within eight weeks. The general plan is to have all the boys select all the good seed possible early in the fall and hold a seed corn auction sale in December.

During the past year 25 carloads of ground limestone have been used in Starke County, and many more will be used this year, as the farmers learn its value. Last year on a demonstration field the result on corn showed that the limited portion yielded 40 bushels per acre while the unlimited portion yielded but 11 bushels. This year the field is in oats and condition of the crop now shows a big difference between the limed and unlimed areas.

Through the work of the county agricultural agent, R. N. Atkinson, the various organizations working for civic or health betterment in Evansville arranged to unite with the Southern Indiana Dairy Association officers in a Dairy Council and to conduct an extensive advertising campaign to show the food value of milk and encourage its wider use for both children and adults.

In checking up the records of three poultry farms in Fulton County, the agricultural agent, L. R. Binding, found one flock with no animal food, but plenty of grain, including bran, during March was kept at a loss of 3 cents per hen during the month, while in April the same flock, supplied with tankage in addition to the grain ration gave a return over food costs of 49 cents per hen. The March egg production was 26 per cent and in April it was 76 percent.

FEDERAL GRAIN STANDARDS TO BE EXPLAINED IN STATE

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—A series of nine meetings will be held throughout the state the last two weeks in June at which the grain standardization work of the government will be demonstrated for county agricultural agents and grain dealers. J. R. Cavanaugh, market specialist on the Purdue University Extension staff, announced today that all the meetings would be held in connection with district conferences of county agricultural agents.

They will be at Lafayette June 16, Logansport, June 17; South Bend, June 18; Fort Wayne, June 19; Anderson, June 20; Indianapolis, June 23, North Vernon, June 24; Vincennes, June 25; Evansville, June 26; Terre Haute, June 27.

At these demonstrations, Federal grain specialists will demonstrate moisture testing, sampling and determination of dockage on various kind of grain; testing for weight per bushel; determination of foreign matter in the grain; obtain percentage of heat and other damage; discuss classes of grain; demonstrate the grading of oats and explain in detail the application of federal standards which are of interest now to every farmer.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Crew Decides.

Except that many of the men remained armed there was no suggestion of violence. But for the gleaming carabineer trained on the main hatch, and the small group of gunners clustered about it, the scene was peaceable enough, resembling the deck of some merchant ship. LeVere stood motionless at the poop rail, staring down and his attitude and expression of face aroused within me a doubt of the man, a determination to put him to the test. Evidently he had held aloof and refrained from taking even the slightest part in our activities. The men themselves were mostly forward, grouped together and still excitedly discussing the situation.

"Stand by to reef topsails," I shouted. "We're all one watch now. Go at it lively, lads, and when the job is over we'll eat, and decide together what's our next move. Two of you will be enough to guard the hatch and one of you go into the cabin and relieve the girl there. Keep your eyes open. I'll be down presently. Aloft with you and see how quick a job you can make of it."

Watkins led the way up the mainmast ratlines, and Cole was first into the fore shrouds, the others following eagerly. I watched them lay out on the yards and was heartened to hear the fellows sing as they worked, the canvas melting away as if by magic. I climbed the ladder to where LeVere stood on the poop, but carefully ignored his presence, my gaze on the scene aloft. Twice I gave orders, changing the steering direction slightly, and commanding the lower sails reefed. The mulatto scowling, joined me at the rail.

"What's all this about?" he asked. "That's no storm cloud yonder." "There is always danger in fog," I answered coldly, "and besides there is no use carrying on until we know where we are bound. My purpose is to keep the men busy, and then talk the situation over with them. Have you any criticism of this plan, Senor LeVere?"

He hesitated, but his eyes were narrowed, and ugly.

"You'll do as you please, but you told me we sailed for Porto Grande. Was that a lie?"

"Not necessarily," and I smiled grimly. "Although I should not have hesitated to tell one under the circumstances. I mean to leave that decision to the men themselves. It is their lives that are in danger."

"That scum! half of them are Eng-

After Your Baby Is Born

Think Now About the Time to Come Afterwards.

When you hold in your arms your tiny new infant, be sure that you can feel that before its arrival you did all in your power to give to it a happy pre-natal influence. Scientists say that the thoughts and feelings of the expectant mother greatly affect the health and disposition of the future infant.

For over half a century thousands of women who have used the time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend, say that they entirely escaped nausea, nervousness and that peculiar distressing feeling so usual where nature is unaided. They thus preserved a wonderfully bright and happy disposition, which reflects so markedly upon the unborn child.

By the regular use of Mother's Friend the muscles are made and kept soft and elastic to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion without the usual wrenching strain. The nerves are not drawn upon, and as a consequence the expectant mother is calm and serene and the nights are not disturbed with nervous twitchings, and the crisis is one of joy and happiness.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. K, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, of value to every woman, and get a bottle of Mother's Friend from your druggist and begin a treatment that will bring real results.

lish and French. All they want is to get away; they will never go back to Porto Grande without you make them."

"How make them?"

"By false observations; there is no navigator forward. It is a trick easy enough to play with a little nerve. I would never have taken part in this mutiny if I had supposed you meant to play into the hands of the men."

"It is very little part you took Senor LeVere, judging from what I saw. You seemed quite content to stand aft here and look on. However you are in it just as deeply as I am, and are going to play the game out with me to the end. Do you understand that?"

"What you mean, senor—play it out?"

"Go on with the rest of us; take your chance with the men and do your duty. I am captain here. The first sign of treachery on your part will send you below with those others. I don't trust you, and all I want is an excuse to put you out of the way—so be careful what you do."

I turned and walked away from him toward the forward rail. The men were still aloft but coming in from off the yards. Below me in the door of the companion, stood Dorothy, her eyes peering curiously about the deserted deck. She glanced up and saw me.

"May I come up there?" she asked.

"Certainly; let me help you. Stand here beside me, and you can see all that is being done. That's all, lads; breakfast is ready; lay down all except the lookout."

We watched while they streamed down the ratlines and gathered forward of the galley, squatting in groups on the deck. To all appearances the fellows had not a care in the world, or any thought of the stirring scenes just passed through. The girl's hand touched my sleeve, and I turned and looked into her face.

"Have you considered Captain Sanchez?" she asked.

"Why no," in surprise, "he is helpless below, badly wounded."

"Not so badly as you suppose," she said swiftly. "He is able to be up and about his stateroom. I heard him moving, and I believe the steward has told him what has occurred on board, and endeavored to bear a message from him to those men amidstships. I held my pistol to his head and locked him in the pantry. He is there now, with the sailor you sent on guard. That is what I came on deck to tell you."

"He is a danger, of course, but not a serious one," I said confidently. "It is safe enough to leave him undisturbed at present. The first thing I need to do is to satisfy those men, I'll attend to that now, and then see to the proper securing of Sanchez. Remain here with LeVere while I go forward, and watch that he does not attempt to go below."

The fellows had not finished mess, but I felt the danger of further delay, and talked to them as they sat on deck, explaining briefly the entire situation, and the causes leading up to the mutiny. I dealt with the matter in plain terms, making no apparent effort to influence them, yet forcibly compelling each individual to realize what would be the result of our recapture. They listened earnestly, asking an occasional question, and passing comments back and forth freely among themselves.

I sent Watkins to the cabin for a roll of charts, and spreading these out, endeavored as well as I could, to make clear our probable position and the nearest point of land. When I had completed the explanation, and stood before them awaiting decision, it was Haines who acted as their spokesman. "This yere is Cape Howarth?" he asked, a grimy thumb on the point indicated. "An' yer say it's 'bout a hundred and fifty miles west?"

"Yes, about that?"

"An' that's no settlement?"

"Some colonists fifty miles north

"That's 'bout right." He turned to the others. "Say mates, this is how I figure. We can't go on no long cruise with all those bloody rats in the hold. They're bound ter find some way out if we give 'em time 'nough. Fer as I'm concerned, I'm fer dividin' up what we've got, and ter hell with piratin'. What 'er yer say, mates? Shall we run the ol' hooker ashore, an' leave her there, while we tramp the coast? We're just a shipwrecked crew. What say yer?"

There was a chorus of approval sufficient in volume to satisfy me, and I accepted this as a decision.

"All right, lads," I said briefly. "In my judgment your choice is a wise one. I'll have an observation as soon as the fog clears and we'll head in for the Cape?"

"When do we divide the swag?" "Fifty miles off the coast. That's fair enough, isn't it? And my share goes to you."

There was a straggling cheer, but I broke it up with a sharp order.

"Now stand by for work, all of you. Watkins and Carter, I want you aft." (TO BE CONTINUED)

SEND HOLSTEINS TO FRANCE

Herd of Pure Breds and Grades Purchased by French Commission to Be Sent Over.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

American dairy cattle are to follow American soldiers to France. One hundred and four Holstein-Friesian cows—42 pure bred and 62 grades—and four pure-bred bulls are to leave this country shortly on a specially equipped transport. "Passports" have been issued to Havre, France, and from there the cattle will be sent to devastated districts where they will do their bit in bringing back health and happiness to the children of those regions. The cattle were purchased by the French high commission, and at the commission's request dairy specialists of the United States department of agriculture assisted in selecting the animals.

Efforts were made to collect the animals from herds believed to be free from contagious disease, especially tuberculosis.

Of the entire number of cattle selected from 42 herds, a very low percentage reacted to the tuberculin test. Special efforts were made to select only well-grown, large, strong animals, of good conformation, which showed evidences of becoming large milk producers. In age they varied from two to four and one-half years, so that a long period of usefulness is ahead. All were due to freshen soon after arrival in France, so that milk will be available at once.

The animals were shipped from the assembling points by express to New York, where they are to be loaded on a specially equipped transport. To insure proper care throughout the ocean voyage, a dairy expert of the United States department of agriculture will accompany the shipment.

Members of the French high commission expressed themselves as being well pleased with the cattle selected. It is understood that these dairy cows are to help satisfy the urgent demand for milk from the war-stricken areas.

SUMMER FORAGES FOR COWS

Plan Recommended by Missouri College Expert Calls for Seeding of Sudan Grass.

A good general plan recommended by Prof. Swett, of Missouri Agricultural college, for providing late pasture for cows is to plant Sudan grass about June 1, at the rate of sixteen pounds to the acre. This should yield ten to fifteen tons to the acre and should be ready for feeding from about July 15 to August 1. An early maturing variety of soy beans planted at the rate of thirty pounds to the acre May 30 will be available for feeding from about August 1 to 20. A good northern variety of corn planted about the middle of May at the rate of six quarts to the acre will become available about August 10 and can be fed whenever needed. The second crop of Sudan grass will be ready to cut about August 25 to September 1. Cow peas planted at the rate of five pecks per acre about July 1 may be fed from about August 25 to September 10. After this time field corn may be used at any time. Sorghum crops give good results during the late summer.

QUALITY AND UTILITY FOWLS

Breeders Encouraged to Develop Flocks Along Breeding Lines for Good Production.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A hen, in order to be classed as a genuinely good one, should be equally capable of going in the show ring and taking a ribbon or of going on the yard and making a record as a layer. And the breeder, in order to get the advantage of the best and broadest markets, must breed for a combination of utility and standard quality instead of following the tendency to become either a fancier or a utility breeder. That is the advice of Rob B. Slocum, a poultry specialist of the United States department of agriculture, and it is based largely on results obtained on the poultry farm of the department at Beltsville, Md., where many of the exhibition males used have 200-egg production in their pedigrees.

"Except in a few more or less isolated cases," says Mr. Slocum, "there is nothing in the standard requirements directly opposed to utility, and the buyers during the past few years have shown an increasingly insistent demand for fowls that have egg-producing ability back of them."

Fanciers, Mr. Slocum points out, are too prone to put the appearance of the fowl above everything else, and thus to neglect the egg-laying quality, while, on the other hand, unsuccessful fanciers are likely to turn completely to the egg-production side of breeding without any attention to "points."

Quality and Utility Are Combined in This White Plymouth Rock Hen of the Flock on the Government Farm at Beltsville, Md.—Though of a Family of Show Birds, She Has Made a Good Record as a Layer.

Either of these attitudes, he says, is an obstruction to the best development of poultry raising in the United States.

"The department of agriculture," he continues, "encourages poultry breeders to develop flocks along breeding lines to secure a combination of good production, vigor, and uniform type. That goal is readily attainable through careful selection of breeding stock, and those who follow the policy suggested may confidently expect the most attractive markets."

GRIT IS POULTRY ESSENTIAL

Material Takes Place of Teeth in Preparing Food for Digestion—Part of Feed.

Grit is essential to the health of the fowls and to economy in feeding. Grit takes the place of teeth in preparing the feed for further digestion, and is required for the proper preparation of feed in the gizzard. When the feed is not properly taken care of in this organ, an undue strain is thrown on the fowl's system, often resulting in disease, and also allowing much of the nutriment to pass through the bird's body without being absorbed. In every pen or yard a box of grit should be kept. Investigators have asserted that grit is a part of the necessary feed, giving the fowls strong bones and a bright plumage.

TO CURE EGG-EATING HABIT

If Fowls Have Ample Supply of Oyster Shell and Are Kept Busy Habit Won't Develop.

Egg eating is a product of idleness. If the fowls have plenty of oyster shell and are kept busy, this habit will not develop. Where it appears, fill an empty eggshell with a stiff paste formed by a mixture of three parts of cornmeal and one part of cayenne pepper and place it in one of the nests. If this is attended to promptly the egg eating will stop at once. If the habit becomes well developed it may be necessary to repeat the dose several times, but in connection with plenty of exercise for the fowls and darkened nests, it never fails to effect a cure.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in un-stopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again. Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment? Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. For special medical advice free regarding your own case, address Medical Director, 51 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves. People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

HOGS REQUIRE PLENTY OF FRESH CLEAN WATER

A constant supply of fresh, clean water for hogs is essential to get the best results in raising animals to a market age according to men in the animal husbandry department of Purdue University. Water is an important factor in the process of digestion, the elimination of wastes from the body and it is a regulator of the animals temperature. It should either be kept before them at all times or offered them at frequent intervals. When deprived of water, hogs lose their appetite, slump in the amount of gain made and in hot weather die when kept away from water for any length of time. The Purdue Station reports highly beneficial results from the increased consumption of water.
